

Organic Gardening Tips

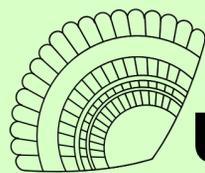

Plant Marigolds To Protect From Pests- plant a border of marigolds around a garden, the scent from the marigolds will deter pests from chomping on your plants

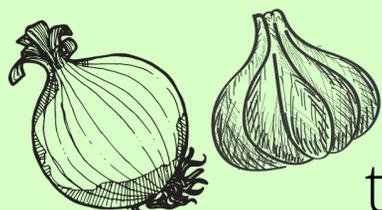

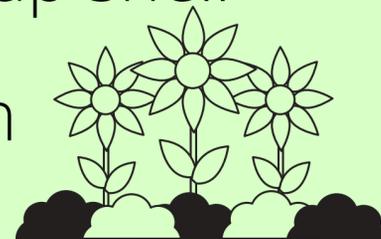

Encourage Predators- one of the best ways to control pests in your garden is establishing a natural balance in your garden, lady bugs prey on aphids and mites, you can attract lady bugs by planting parsley, dill or fennel

Boost Soil Health- use compost tea (1 part compost to 1 part water) as a natural fertilizer

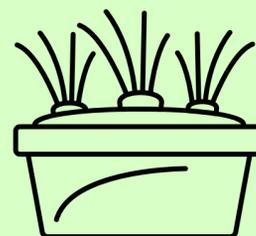

Use A Natural Insecticide- if you want to protect your garden from some insect pests, use diatomaceous earth as a organic insecticide, diatomaceous earth is just ground up shell

Mulch It Up- apply 1-2 inches of organic mulch around the base of plants, this will keep in moisture and protect from weeds

Go With Garlic- plants like garlic and onions deter insects due to their strong smell, plant them among your plants being eaten by pests

Raise It Up- using raised beds helps you control the soil and makes it easier to foster a healthy soil

Plant For Pollinators- plant some native wildflowers to attract pollinators who will help your garden thrive
